

2020 June Guess that Plant

Trifolium incarnatum L., Italian or Crimson Clover

The June 2020 Guess that Plant is a non-native legume whose use is making a reappearance in the southern New Jersey counties. This clover is a native of northern Europe. It is widespread in the Eastern United State, and is often planted as a forage crop. It is also occasionally found in road side grass seed mixes. It was from such a seed mix that the plants for the June GTP were photographed. The species is an annual, and provides a crimson flower head that is quite handsome when planted en mass.
